Board hopes to buy building to ease courthouse crowding

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has decided to look into the possibilities of buying a building near the courthouse because the county is running out of office space.

The board decided Friday to hire realtor Ames Kergosien to appraise a Main Street building currently occupied by McDonald Furniture, which will reportedly be relocated in the near future.

If the county can buy the building, at least one of the county offices will be moved there.

So far, the board members favor moving the office of Edward Murtagh, tax assessor and collector, or at least moving the reappraisal department.

The board also dispelled rumors that the supervisors had planned to move the office of their secretary, James Pfeiffer, to the county youth court building after the offices of Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph are moved to new quarters at Stennis Airport.

Another use will be found for the space at the youth court building because the board wants the records Pfeiffer keeps to remain in the courthouse.

The lack of space for county offices has been an ongoing problem, but was called to the board's attention Friday when Pfeiffer reported that he has run out of space for the board's files.

"The county's business has just got so big now that there's no room in the courthouse," he said, explaining that most of the county's paperwork eventually ends up in the supervisors' office and that the amount of material to be filed is constantly increasing.

For example, the board generated 32,000 pages of minutes; 1,112 orders; and 72 letters in a six-month period in addition to the files related to the county reappraisal, Pfeiffer said.

As a temporary solution, the board authorized the destruction of some of the outdated material the county is not required by law to keep, the storage of some files no longer used and the moving of some files from the secretary's office and the county bookkeeping department into other parts of the courthouse.

In additional business Friday, the board agreed to settle a complaint by Albert M. Joiner concerning Sand Hill Cemetery in the Standard Community. Joiner has complained that the cemetery is encroaching upon his land because cemetery debris is being left on his property.

In addition, visitors to the cemetery cross Joiner's property to get to the graves.

The county agreed to exchange a nearby quarter-acre of unused county land for a quarter-acre of Joiner's property adjacent to the cemetery.

The supervisors also accepted Joiner's donation of about two acres of land to the county for an addition to the cemetery.

The board also granted a request by Murtagh that his office be allowed to remain open a half-day on Saturdays during January for the convenience of taxpayers. He was also given permission to hire three temporary part-time employees.

Those addressing the board Friday included Hilda Bourg of the ## Company plans 250 jobs

Stennis Airport industry receives local approval

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The Board of Supervisors Friday approved the resolution which included the issuance of $4 million in industrial revenue bonds.

Smith and Smith, a nation-wide operation will modify aircraft for overseas distribution at the local plant. An estimated work force of 250 is estimated to be employed at the plant.

Representatives of local government agencies and an aircraft company almost deadlocked Thursday night during negotiations for the location of an aircraft modification plant at Stennis International Airport.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and Board of Supervisors met with representatives of Smith and Smith Aircraft Company to discuss the terms of a proposal by Smith and Smith.

The problem arose over the source of funding for a 85,000 square foot taxiway and aircraft parking apron the company requires. According to the terms of Smith and Smith's proposal the county would pay for the construction of the apron as well as approximately 1,700 feet of roadways in and around the company's property.

Supervisor A.A. Keller estimated the cost on the total project could be as high as $300,000, a figure in excess of available funds.

The supervisors had originally intended to use the money gained from the sale of land to Smith and Smith as funding for the paving project but the Federal Aviation Administration said no.

"This is a situation that nobody anticipated," said Walter Gex, attorney for the board of supervisors.

In the hour-long discussion following several alternatives including delaying the pavement of the apron, reducing the size of the apron and a co-operative agreement between the company and the supervisors to pave the apron were eliminated.

"We have a quarter of a million dollar problem," Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner said, "anybody got any solutions?"

"We can go on all night but the Port and Harbor Commission has about $40,000 available in airport construction funds, but even if FAA says you can use the $150,000 (from the sale of the land) we don't have the rest of the money to match it," said Ronnie Artigues, president of the commission.

"How many millions have we already spent at the airport? If we have to spend another $200,000 to get some industry there, we need to do it, if we can possibly find the money," said Bert Courtege, Beat 1 supervisor.

Ladner said that it appeared that the only thing to do was to go ahead and ask the FAA to approve the land purchase money to build the apron and if they do not, scrub the whole project.

Artigues added that if Smith and Smith would agree the commission would include in the company's proposal that with FAA approval of the use of property purchase funds, the county would construct the apron as specified.

"At least that would buy us some time to hunt some funds," Courtege noted.

Supervisors refuse Travirca's proposal on building code

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors remains divided on whether to establish a building code for the entire county or just the part of it south of Interstate 10.

Beat Five Supervisor James Travirca brought up the matter of a building code Friday, because he wants to get a local and private bill passed to allow a building code for southern Hancock County.

The board has heard numerous complaints from county residents who say lack of a building code has led to a high incidence of improper septic tank usage.

Without a local and private bill, the board will either have to enact a building code for the entire county or let the county continue without one, attorney Walter Gex III said.

The possibility of such a bill had been discussed at a previous meeting, Travirca said, but the board had taken no action on the matter because the legislature does not go back into session until January.

Supervisors A.A. "Dolph" Keller, Bert Courtege, Sam Perniciaro and Roger Dale Ladner refused to second Travirca's motion for a board resolution requesting the bill, saying any building code enacted in the county should be countywide.

Courtege said he would like to see the matter brought to a referendum, which would require the board to publish a notice of intent, after which 20 percent of the county's voters or 1,500 of them, whichever is less, would have to petition for a referendum.

Keller opposed that move also. He said the county tried to enact a building code through a referendum

Randolph says

Public to help decide on school expansion

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County School Board has approved a proposal calling for public involvement in the district's proposed building program.

Superintendent Terrell Randolph proposed to the board Saturday that a citizens' committee be appointed to help put together a bond issue for the expansion of the district's schools.

The committee may be called upon to decide whether existing schools should be expanded or a new school should be built.

Some type of expansion is needed to help implement the requirements of the Educational Reform Act, particularly the 1986 implementation of kindergartens, as well as an existing overcrowding problem.

Recently the district heard a proposal from architect Fred Wagner outlining expansion at Charles B. Murphy Elementary in Pearlinton, Gulfview Elementary School and Hancock North Central. Construction costs for the proposal total about $6.2 million.

Randolph, however, feels the district may be able to save some money in the long run by cutting down on proposed expansion on the Hancock North Central campus and building a new school.

The proposed school would be located somewhere between Kiln and Interstate 10, probably on county-owned land at Stennis Airport, and would house grades seven through 12 or nine through 12.

Plans to build six classrooms at Charles B. Murphy would not be changed, since those rooms will still be needed for kindergarten classes.

Randolph favors the construction of a secondary school rather than an elementary school because the Educational Reform Act requires that any program offered on the high school level also be offered in junior high.

Putting grades seven through 12 together at a new school would help the district meet that requirement without having to provide duplicate programs at elementary schools for grades seven and eight.

The board members favor Randolph's proposal for a citizens' committee but questioned whether a new school should be built with the district facing the possibility of consolidation.

Randolph said he has discussed the matter with Frank Lovell of the State Department of Education and said Lovell told him consolidation would affect the districts but probably not the individual schools.

However, he said he expects word some time next week on how consolidation will affect the Hancock County District and the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District.

BellSouth employees recognized

Bill Frederick and Larry Bentley, two BellSouth Services employees, have won national awards in the Technology Transfer '80's program for their South Central Bell energy conservation projects.

According to Don Roberts, district manager, Bentley and Frederick received their awards recently from U.S. Secretary of Energy Donald Paul Hodel in Washington.

"Energy Conservation plays an important role in our day-to-day operations at South Central Bell," Roberts said. "These three projects are some of the more outstanding money-saving ideas implemented by South Central Bell and are representative of the emphasis we place on energy conservation."

According to Roberts, Mississippi has been a leader among South Central Bell's five states in innovative energy conservation. Since 1978, when conservation activities began to be stressed, approximately $15.5 million has been saved through South Central Bell's conservation programs.

The energy committees established in each of the state's seven districts routinely check compliance with heating and cooling guidelines, lighting, levels, and hot water temperatures. Gasoline consumption is also emphasized as an important aspect of the company's overall conservation efforts.

The three projects Bentley and Frederick received recognition for include the building energy management program used in all South Central Bell locations in Mississippi; the thermostat timer control box used in Mississippi on over 350 company window air conditioners; and the condenser water economy cycle used to permit the chiller to be shut down during winter.

"These projects and all of the others that received national recognition are described in a Department of Energy publication. This publication allows other businesses an opportunity to review ideas that are proven energy savers," Roberts said.

Pecans are a naturally delicious, nutritious food. Whether served right from the shell—toasted with butter, sugared, spiced, or salted—mixed into salads, entrees, vegetables, desserts—or served in dozens of other ways, pecans are a tasty way to add flavor, crunch, and nutrition.

Pecans are a good source of protein and important vitamins and minerals, including iron, calcium and the B vitamins. They're rich in potassium and phosphorus, two minerals often required for special dietary needs. And, of course, they provide the fiber that's so important to daily diets.

With so little trouble and little money, too, pecans can be added to a multitude of dishes, appetizers, and snacks. Yet they always add a fancy touch, not to mention rich flavor and appealing crunch. Only a handful or so added to most recipes will do the trick.

Although pecans have been traditionally popular in pies, cakes, other sweet baked goods, and desserts, they're equally delicious in casseroles, salads, sandwich fillings and vegetables. It's fun to use the imagination to see just how many different ways pecans can be used to make a dish special.

As far as researchers can tell, pecan trees have been growing for thousands of years. A relative of the walnut and hickory, pecan trees are thought to have grown wild along rivers with flowing waters, which carried them throughout much of the country.

Records of early Spanish and French explorers show that American Indian tribes inhabiting the Mississippi Valley, as far north as Illinois and into western Texas and southern Oklahoma, knew about pecan trees long before the discovery of America.

To select nuts in the shell which are of the highest quality, choose those that are clean and free of splits, cracks, stains, or holes. There is no correlation between the quality of a nut and its size. When selecting shelled pecans, look for plump nutmeats that are fairly uniform in color and size. The best ones have a golden brown color.

Choose halves for garnishes, but pecans pieces will suit most needs. They usually cost less and will save chopping time.

Pecans are long lasting and, when stored properly, hold their freshness for up to two years. This means pecans may be bought in quantity when prices are most reasonable and enjoyed all year through. Store unshelled pecans in a cool dry place for about six months.

Unshelled pecans resist insects and aging much longer than shelled nuts, but shelling before storage reduces bulk by about one-half. Shelled or unshelled pecans may be kept under refrigeration in airtight containers for about nine months, or stored in freezer for up to two years.

Pecans are usually the preferred nut, especially for the holidays. The reason is their full, rich flavor. Unlike some other nuts, they contribute a lot more than crunch texture to recipes. What's more, pecans are convenient because they're always ready to use in their natural state.

Pecans can be enjoyed in a wide variety of ways all year round. Don't save them only for holiday baking. Instead, keep a supply of shelled pecan pieces on hand for ready use anytime to perk up a casserole, cookies or snack time.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM—Participants in the forthcoming Christ Episcopal Elementary Christmas Program Tuesday include, from left, Dawn Williams, sixth grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gatton of Pearlinton; Megan Uram, fourth grade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Uram of Bay St. Louis; and Jarrod White, sixth grade, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joel White of Diamondhead. They wear cottas made for the program and stand before an Advent wreath composed from hand drawings of the Coast Episcopal School family.

Coast Elementary slates Tuesday Christmas event

Mothers of Coast Episcopal Elementary School are making cottas from a pattern designed by Mrs. John Covode, school librarian and secretary.

The cottas will be worn at a Christmas program Tuesday at Christ Episcopal Church.

Program schedule is 6:30 p.m. for the nursery school and 7:30 p.m. for the elementary children.

The pre-school program will be traditional carols and one song in French. The elementary program is titled "Christ is Born," a Christmas Cantata for children introducing Christmas carols.

Also included will be ancient carols dating from the 13th century sung in five languages and a nativity scene tableau.

The program will be directed by Betty Holliman and accompanist will be Ingrid Ling. Receptions at Virginia Hall will follow each program.

Another special Christmas project at the school this year is a huge Advent wreath in the library window at the front of the school.

Mrs. Paul Vegas, art teacher, used hand drawings from every student, teachers, custodian and bus drivers to make the wreath.

As the project was being constructed, fourth grader Nathan Guice suggested the Christmas wreath should be an Advent wreath so the candles were added.

Additional Christmas activities include plans for the fourth, fifth and sixth graders to deliver Christmas presents of food, clothing and gifts for their adopted family of a mother, father, and eight children.

The mothers plan another Christmas carol program followed by class parties before noon dismissal Wednesday.

A building code is a must for Hancock

A building code has been needed in Hancock County for many years, and little has been done to come up with a solution.

We realize the county had a building code after Hurricane Camille and after many of the residents living in the rural areas complained, the issue was brought to a vote and it was killed.

During the discussions of the pros and cons of a building code, many false rumors were spread. Misleading information spread included a building permit would be needed for the construction of an outhouse, chicken coop, barn, horse stall, etc.

On Friday, James Travirca, Hancock County District Four Supervisor made a motion to have a 'local and private bill' passed in the legislature for a building code for the section of the county South of I-10.

The motion died for a lack of a second, but an effort was made by Supervisor Travirca to do something about a serious need in our county.

It is our understanding the board of supervisors will again discuss the need for a building code in the county at a January meeting.

We realize the residences in the rural areas of the county are mostly constructed on acres of land, whereas city dweller homes are on lots where the square footage of land is small in comparison.

A study of a solution to the problem is needed, and we are hoping it will be forthcoming in 1985.

News From The Governor's Office

Gov. Bill Allain

'LOVE ONE ANOTHER' CAMPAIGN BEGINS

In the State of Mississippi, we have a lot to be proud of, but some things also exist within our borders that we are not so proud of. Recently, a lot of media attention has been focused on the hunger and poverty that exists within our state.

Today I am asking each of you who can, as well as the newspaper printing this column, to do something about the poverty and living conditions throughout the state.

There are thousands of families across Mississippi who cannot afford a Merry Christmas. These people are not deadbeats; they are just down on their luck. But a run of bad luck should not deprive children of the joy of Christmas toys or a hot Christmas dinner.

Limited funds and tough economic times are making it harder for many Mississippians to enjoy Christmas this year, and it's up to those of us who can help our friends and neighbors. It's that old theme: Charity begins at home.

I have asked every state agency and every media outlet in the state to design a project to help their neighbors. We call it the "Love One Another" Christmas Campaign. If every Mississippian who can would spend just one dollar on a needy family this year, a lot of people would have their suffering temporarily eased, especially at this time of the year, when we are all so much more caring and compassionate.

Projects could include adopt-a-family; food drives; fundraising drives; or whatever you think will help your individual community. The Governor's Office, for example, is adopting two families and providing them with food, clothes and toys at Christmas.

The response in just the first few days of this campaign has been overwhelming. We have commitments from city officials across the state, television stations, law firms, businesses, manufacturers, farmers, car dealers, and thousands of state employees through their state agencies. Mississippi people are proving again that they are caring people.

The national press has done so many negative stories about conditions in Mississippi; I wish they would see how our people are responding to a positive effort to make life better for those less fortunate who live here.

These projects are only a temporary help for our people, but they are a beginning. I am working with church and business groups now to establish some type of permanent assistance program that will offer this type of help all year long.

Don't think that just because you don't know anyone poor or hungry, that they don't exist. Ignorance of this problem will not make it go away. Only through that old lesson we learned from our parents—the practice of sharing—can we rid our state of these problems.

With the Holiday Season approaching full swing, safety tips for holiday drinking were released by the Committee on Alcoholism & Drug Abuse for Greater New Orleans, a United Way Agency and home of the New Orleans help number, 524-H-E-L-P.

"The reason for the tips," according to A.E. Holmes Jr. president of CADA, "is that our society is rampant with transportation fatalities, family break-ups, accidents of all sorts, injuries, and crimes—all of which have an incidence of alcohol."

"What CADA hopes to do by sharing tips for safe drinking is to diminish at least, and hopefully prevent, irresponsible drinking which contributes to physical, social and family problems."

Another point included in the tips has to do with alcoholism, a disease. Ashton Brisolar, executive director, pointed out, "Alcoholism is primarily a physical disease. Its cause has been linked with a chemical or physical condition which makes it impossible for the victim to drink socially, moderately or controllably."

"This condition," continues Brisolar, "can be genetic, being passed down by the mother and father through the genes. It varies in families."

"Because there is more-than-usual drinking during the holidays, CADA reminds people who are alcoholics, that it is the first drink which precipitates trouble, and so to abstain, at the same time reminding drinkers of their responsibility not to push a drink on anyone," Brisolar added.

Some tips given by CADA for the holidays include:

- If you host a party, have some non-alcoholic beverages for those who do not wish to, or cannot, drink;
- Have eatables, like peanuts, sandwiches, crunchables, for those who drink; this will slow down the absorption of the alcohol, and retard or prevent drunkenness and make the drinker safer;
- Don't push drinks on anyone—he or she could be on medication, have some medical problem, or be an alcoholic;
- Make the last one for the road coffee—not another drink;
- See to it that no guest leaves the party intoxicated to drive home—take the keys away. If necessary, call a cab, have them sleep it off at the host's home or have someone take them home.

- Remember, you can't sober up a drunk, only time can do that.
- If you drink, remember:—Eat something before you drink—alcohol is absorbed, not digested, and food slows down the effects;
- If you are an alcoholic, don't drink—the first drink is the dangerous one;
- If you are on medication, abstain, or check with your physician before drinking—alcohol and drugs can kill;
- If you've had too much, let someone else drive, take a cab, or let someone take you home;
- There is no quick way to sober up: coffee, showers, or walking does little to help; only time helps;
- Above all, Know When To Say When.

The committee is neither "wet" nor "dry." It is concerned with safe drinking, abuse, and alcoholism. Traffic fatalities, broken homes, physical problems, and other negative consequences of abuse are targeted by its educational and informational programs.

The philosophy of CADA might well be put, "For those who choose not to drink, their decision is respected; for those who choose to drink and do so responsibly and safely, drinking can be fun; for those who do not or cannot drink responsibly, safely and controllably, drinking can be tragic."

Confidential information, help, and advice are available by calling the New Orleans help number, 524-H-E-L-P, or Alcoholics Anonymous in Hancock County at 255-3413.

Not guilty verdicts in vehicular homicide cases indicative of a public lack of concern

December 4, 1984
The Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

The "Innocent" verdicts returned in the recent trials of two accused of vehicular homicide in the counties of Hancock and Harrison have caused me much unrest. I am ashamed of the jury members who cannot seem to understand the seriousness of the outcome of these two trials.

No, it will not bring back the lost lives—the innocent victims of the two drivers who both had previous DUI's but who were still allowed to be free to drive while intoxicated.

Doesn't the injustice of these two trials get to you just a little? If the two accused had wielded a gun and actually shot the victims, do you think that you could have returned a "Guilty" verdict? What does it take the public to make them see that drinking and driving do not mix?

Mississippi Democrats in right church, wrong pew

Dear Editor,

O.K. folks, you have been going to our church for some time now and you seem to like our preacher, and agree wholeheartedly with our doctrine.

Don't you think it is time to stop calling yourself something you are not and start calling yourself what you really are?

You have not changed your beliefs, but a long time ago your old group changed to something you totally disagree with. I think you would be very happy in our congregation. Contrary to popular belief—we are not all rich and we are not all white.

We are compassionate, conservative people dedicated to the lasting prosperity and the future interests of the whole country.

Even if you are an elected official in the other party and don't feel comfortable wearing the other label anymore, the invitation is open to you, too.

If the State of Mississippi would actually enforce its 'no drinking while driving' law, perhaps we could prevent such tragedies but until the public assists the state in convicting the accused, what good will come of this sort of force?

Will those two men go back into their world's and never commit another crime?

A drink in their hands is just as effective a weapon as a gun.

What do you think, John Q. Public, or do you think? What if your teenager has been driving home one night and a drunken driver had killed him or her?

Would you then be able to return a "Guilty" verdict? Why does it have to hit home before you can react? Let's hear it, take the time out to drop the editor a line and let him know that you are concerned, that the public really does care about their fellowman.

Small Business Administration

By Dorothy A. Overal
Public Information Officer
Biloxi Branch Office

Q. I am a small business owner who has experienced a rise in bad checks. My budget cannot afford the services of a commercial check verification company. What can I do to reduce this problem?

A. There are many types of checks of which a small business owner should be aware of. You are apt to get seven different kinds of checks: personal, two-party, payroll, Government, new account, counter and traveler's checks. And some customers may offer you money orders.

When accepting a check look for key items. Close examination of such key items can sometimes tip you off to a worthless check. Before accepting a check look for: name, address and telephone of the person imprinted on the check.

Use extra care in examining a check that is drawn on a non local bank; require positive identification.

Do not accept a check if it's not dated, post-dated or if it's more than 30 days old. Make sure the numerical amount agrees with the written amount.

The check should be written and signed in ink and must not have any erasures or written-over amounts. When you take a personal check have the customer make it payable to your firm.

Special care should be taken when accepting a two-party check. Personal checks should be for the exact amount of purchase.

Require identification. Once you are satisfied that the check is okay, the question is, "Is the person holding the check the right person?"

Some stores require at least two pieces of identification. The following types of identification should be useful in determining the type to use in your store: current automobile operator's license; automobile registration card; major credit cards; Government passes, and other identification cards issued by the federal, state or local governments.

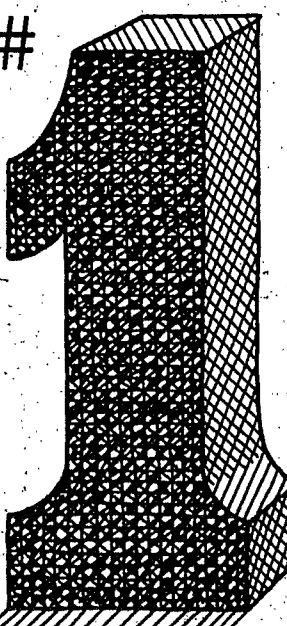

These should carry a photo, a description and a signature.

Several types of cards and documents are not good identification. Unless they are presented with a current automobile operator's license, do not accept the following: social security cards, letters, business cards, birth certificates, library cards, bank books, initialed jewelry, work permits, unsigned credit cards, insurance cards, voter's registration cards, and learner driver permits.

Other stores, when in doubt about a check, will verify an address and telephone number in the local telephone directory or with the information operator.

Compare signatures. Regardless of the types of identification you require, it is essential that you and your employees compare the signature on the check with the one on the identification.

Set a policy. You should set a policy for cashing checks, write it down, and instruct your employees in its use.

Local officials examine damaged chemical tank stranded on US-90

Damaged tank transported safely after 18-hour wait

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Traffic on US-90, west of the Pass Christian Harbor was redirected for several hours Friday night while a chemical tank carrying a hazardous material was transferred to another trailer.

The double-walled container carrying dimethylcyclohexylamine had been damaged early Friday morning when the trailer carrying the tank broke loose from the tractor and skidded several feet along the highway.

Local officials had said earlier that there would possibly be some evacuation from the surrounding area before the tank was moved.

But a hazardous chemical team from New Orleans determined that there was no leakage and the tank was transferred to the other trailer and escorted to Customs in Louisiana, said George Mixon, Pass Christian Fire Chief.

Friday afternoon Pass Christian mayor Gordon Bishop said the contents of the tank would probably be transferred to another tank before being moved.

"We would rather be overly cautious, than to take any action without exercising all possible care," Bishop said.

Bishop added that he had been in contact with Gulfport chemist David Epperson who said the problem was not severe and the chemical could be controlled with water.

Representative of tank transport company, Leland Creel of Coast to Coast Trucking, said a big production was being made of nothing.

Bishop added that although there was no apparent leakage, they did not know what would happen when the tank was moved.

Street drains near the tank were blocked early in the day with plastic and sand to avoid pollution of the Mississippi Sound if there was a leak.

The truck, bound for New Orleans from the State Port of Gulfport, was driven by Dennis Broadus of Gulfport.

The tank was transferred to the new trailer about 11:30 p.m. Friday night.

After he receives that information, Randolph plans to set up several public meetings to discuss the expansion proposals and appoint the citizens' committee.

"We want to get the school district community involved. We want the people to put this bond issue together and take it to the public before it comes to a vote," he explained.

New jobs.....

"We can either quit now or quit then if FAA doesn't agree," Ladner said.

After another lengthy discussion, Smith and Smith representatives agreed.

Gex added that he assumed that it is understood that the plan must be also modified somewhat to meet the minimum requirements of Smith and Smith; not just what they would like to have.

"I think the supervisors would build the whole thing if they could, but is a pure dollar and cents economic fact, they just don't have that kind of money," he said.

"We want to know what their needs are. Maybe they have some ideas that can save us money or be more beneficial to the district in the future," he commented.

The dates of the meetings will be announced later, Randolph said.

In a related matter, the board approved splitting a Gulfview Elementary class with 37 students into two classes to alleviate overcrowding. The board also approved hiring an additional teacher for the new class.

The board also approved a proposal to advertise for bids on the construction of six kindergarten classrooms at Gulfview.

In addition, the board agreed to advertise for bids on the installation of a gas chlorinator pump for the well at Gulfview, took bids for 10 school buses under advisement, and accepted a bid from Bay Phone Company for two burglar alarm systems priced at $1,323 each.

The board also hired Milton McMaster and John Rawlings as substitute teachers and Mae Cuevas as a bus driver and teacher aide; approved travel requests for staff members attending a workshop in Jackson; and set its next meeting for Jan. 2.

Space shuttle gets good mileage from New Orleans built tanks

If the family car is not getting the mileage hoped for take heart. The Space Shuttle averages about six miles per gallon.

Fourteen external propellant tanks, built by the Michoud Division of Martin Marietta, have provided Space Shuttles with 7,360,253 gallons of propellants during flight.

Along with the help of solid rocket boosters and auxiliary power units, the Shuttle orbiters have traveled over 43 million miles through space.

The external tank is the only major non-reusable element of the Space Shuttle system. During each flight of the Shuttle, the external tank provides approximately 525,732 gallons of super-cold propellants weighing some 1,561,732 pounds.

Each of the massive 154-foot long external tanks feeds propellants to the main engines at a rate of 1,035 gallons per second through 17-inch diameter feedlines.

Within eight and one-half minutes after liftoff, propellants are exhausted, the main engines are shut off and the Space Shuttle is traveling at more than 17,000 miles per hour.

When separated from the orbiter, the external tank has reached about 79 miles altitude and is about 805 miles downrange. It reenters the atmosphere where it breaks apart before impacting safely in a remote ocean area.

The external tanks are designed and assembled by Martin Marietta Aerospace at the NASA Michoud Assembly Facility in New Orleans, La. under contract to the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala.

Coast society elects HGH technology chief

Jeanie Moran, RT, chief x-ray technologist at Hancock General Hospital, was recently installed as 1985 president-elect of the Gulf Coast Society of Radiologic Technologists.

Other officers installed were Charlie Wilson, RT, president, Singing River Hospital; Les Handlin, RT, vice president, Keester Air Force Base; Judy Gosell, RT, secretary, Memorial Hospital at Gulfport; and Connie Sutherland, treasurer, The Medical Clinic.

The installing officer was Ken Reid, RT, executive committee chairman of the Mississippi Society of Radiologic Technologists.

The Coast group is planning an educational seminar concerning the health care industry and cost containment, Moran said.

Interested technologists, students and members of the medical field are urged to participate in the seminar Feb. 22 and 23 at the Biloxi Beach Motor Inn, she added.

Also, interested technologists and others are invited to attend the next meeting of the society Jan. 17 at 7:30 p.m. at The Medical Clinic in d'Iberville. The 1985 dues are now being accepted.

For further information on the society or the seminar call Moran at 467-9081, extension 186.

during the 1970's but it was defeated by a 3-1 margin.

"The country people will never go for it," Kellar stated.

Most of the requests for a building code have not come from "country people" but from residents of subdivisions such as Shoreline Park and BaySide Park.

The board's refusal to second Travira's motion or publish a notice of intent drew protests from Malcolm Tullier, of the Shoreline Park Civic Association and Mary Caillier of the Clermont Harbor Civic Association.

"Does there have to be an epidemic before you do something?" As President of the Clermont Harbor Civic Association, I'm asking you to do something now," Caillier said.

Caillier said she believes the sewage problems caused by lack of a building code are a health hazard. In addition to improper septic tank usage, the board has received complaints about dwellings using straight pipe discharges or no discharge systems as well as reports of raw sewage in ditches.

The board answered Caillier's protest by informing her that the county and the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District are currently working on a joint plan to regulate septic tanks.

The plan calls for the employment of county building inspector Donn Murray to inspect septic tanks systems for violations. However, in its present form the plan provides only for finding new violations and does not provide a method for correcting existing violations.

Courge said he feels that something more than the joint plan is needed to correct the problem. He said he favors using public hearings to find out what method county residents think should be used.

Pernicaro said he feels a county-wide building code should be considered despite the actions of the board and the wastewater district toward septic tank regulation and moved that the matter be brought up again at the board's January meeting.

The board approved placing the matter on the agenda for its second meeting in January.

Overcrowding..... CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1A

Hancock County Park Commission, who requested that Linda and Joe Curet be hired as resident managers for McLeod Park. The board approved the request.

Bourg also informed the board that the committee trying to get Texas Flat Road paved plans to meet with an aide to Senator John Stennis in late December.

Bourg said she hopes the meeting will result in the U.S. Army declaring the road vital to defense because it leads to the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant. If the road is declared vital, the army will pave it and the county will maintain it.

The board also heard from James DeBlanc, director of the county Port and Harbor Commission, who requested the approval of issuance of industrial revenue bonds for an aircraft modification plant at Stennis Airport.

The board approved the bonds, which are not to exceed $4 million.

Also addressing the board was public defender William Frisbie, who requested additional funding for his office next year due to an increased work load. The office has handled over 90 felony cases and 12 lunacy hearings so far in 1984, Frisbie said.

Supervisor A.A. "Dolph" Kellar asked the board for a resolution requesting a change in the taxation of Hancock Countians living in the Picayune Municipal Separate School District. Due to differences in reappraisal values, the school district has raised their taxes by 224 percent.

The resolution will be sent to Picayune School Officials as well as the city's mayor.

The board also set Dec. 18 as the date for a meeting with Gulf

Regional Planning Commission and representatives of the governor's office for discussion of a proposed marina at Bayou Cadet.

LONG WAY FROM HOME—Daniel Rutto of Kenya cools down after winning the Pass Christian to Bay St. Louis 4th Winter Run on Saturday. Rutto, a Mississippi State education student finished the 6.4 mile run in a record 31:15. The race started at Hancock Bank in Pass Christian and finished at the Bay St. Louis Downtown Branch of Hancock Bank and was sponsored by the bank and conducted by the Gulf Coast Running Club. REDEDICATION—Attending the ribbon cutting for the rededication of the Gulf National Bank were, from left, Linda Lines, administrative assistant, Susan Danko, branch manager, Lee Ann Murchison, assistant branch manager, Jeannie Deen, customer representative, Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, Mrs. Ada Whitfield, Bob Whitfield, board of directors, John Rosetti, vice-president, Olive Clower, board of directors; and Basil Kennedy, vice-president. The rededication ceremony was in celebration of the renovation of the Bay St. Louis branch on US-90.

Trouble is what you paid no attention to keeping out of but would give anything to get out of.

The reason some people don't recognize opportunity is because it often comes disguised as hard work.

Most of the shadows of this life are caused by our standing in our own sunshine.

Spencer named consultant at Mental Health Center

Dr. G. Kinsey Stewart, executive director of the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center, recently announced the addition of Betty Spencer to the staff in the position of Consultant/Clinician.

Spencer comes to the Mental Health Center with a number of years of experience in clinical work, administration, and teaching in the New Orleans area.

Her job with the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center will involve therapy and work in consultation and education.

She will work both in the main office in Gulfport and in the satellite office in Bay St. Louis.

Working with other helping agencies on the Gulf Coast, educating the public in mental health topics, and generally assisting the Mental Health Center in its relationships with the community are her goals, Spencer said.

Born in Memphis, Spencer completed her education in New Orleans. She has a Ph.D. degree in sociology and philosophy from Loyola University, and an M.S.W. in clinical social work from Tulane University.

She also has certificates for advanced studies in alcoholism from Rutgers University and in community mental health consultation from Tulane.

Spencer's teaching experience was with the Tulane School of Social Work and Public Health and with the Louisiana State University School of Nursing. She is presently an assistant professor with the Department of Psychiatry of the LSU Medical Center. Spencer resides in Pass Christian. She has a daughter and two grandchildren.

'Speaking Oracles of God'

—I Peter 4:11

By W. Edwin Kearley, Minister
501 Pine St.
Bay St. Louis

"CHRIST IN PROPHECY"

Paul tells us all spiritual blessings are in Christ (Eph. 1:3). How long ago did God plan the blessing in Christ? The next verse gives us the answer. "According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before Him in love" (Eph. 1:4).

Nothing is said here about individual election but salvation was planned in Christ before the foundation of the world.

The first faint prophecy of Jesus is found in God's curse upon the serpent. He said, "And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel." (Gen. 3:15)

The seed of the woman is Christ.

The seed of the serpent or devil are those who are influenced by him. When Jesus was crucified his heel was bruised. This is so because he arose from the dead conquering death and hades (the unseen world).

The resurrection of Jesus was a great wound to the influence of the devil. It gave all mankind the freedom to overcome and live forever.

The faithful Abraham was given a promise from God to establish a great nation of his posterity. Another promise was even greater.

He promised, "and in thee shall all families of the earth be blessed." (Gen. 12:3)

Paul tells of the fulfillment of this Old Testament prophecy. "Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, and to seeds as of many; but as of one, and to thy seed, which is Christ." (Gal. 3:16)

The Savior of the world was prophesied to come into the world as a child. God through Isaiah said, "For unto us a child is born, unto us a son is given." (Isa. 7:9)

When the angel appeared to Joseph, to tell him not to put Mary away, he said, "For that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost...Now all this was done, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken of the Lord by the prophet saying, behold, a virgin shall be with child, and shall bring forth a son, and they shall call his name Immanuel, which being interpreted is, God with us." (Matt. 1:18-23)

This is evidently the fulfillment of Isaiah 7:14, though the Isaiah context is hard to understand. There is much discussion about the Hebrew word "alma."

In all other passages where the word is used by Biblical writers there is no doubt it is used to refer to virgins.

Isaiah described the physical form of Jesus and his affliction by men: "...he hath not form nor comeliness; and when we shall see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him. He is despised and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief and we hid our faces from him; he was despised, and we esteemed him not. Surely he hath borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet we did esteem him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted. But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed. All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way; and the Lord hath laid on him the iniquities of us all. He was oppressed, and he was afflicted, yet he opened not his mouth; he is brought as a lamb to the slaughter, and as a sheep before her shearers is dumb, so he opened not his mouth...he was cut off out of the land of the living..." (Isa. 53:2-8)

Phillip said the life and crucifixion of Jesus was the fulfillment of this prophecy, Paul said, "For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him." (II Cor. 5:21)

SISTER MILA SONES

FINAL VOWS—Sister Mila Sones, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Floyd F. Sones Sr. of Bay St. Louis, will profess final vows in the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Medaille Sunday, Jan. 6 at 3 p.m. at St. Thomas More Church in Baton Rouge. Liturgical celebrants will be Msgr. William L. Greene, pastor of St. Thomas More Church, and receiving Sister Mila's vows will be Bishop Stanley J. Ott, STD. Born in Bay St. Louis, Sister Mila entered the congregation in 1975. She is a graduate of the University of New Orleans with specialization in reading and language arts. From 1978 to 1980, Sister Mila taught at St. Thomas More Junior High School, Baton Rouge. She then assumed duties as youth minister along with those of teaching. In 1983, she joined the faculty of St. Joseph's Academy in Baton Rouge, where she is presently teaching.

ETV, Brief

CHRISTMAS EVE

Mississippi ETV has two Christmas specials planned for Christmas Eve. "What Child Is This" can be seen at 9 p.m., followed at 10 p.m. by "An Olde New England Concert."

"What Child Is This" features the combined 400-voice choirs of St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., and their 100-member orchestra. The concert, a tradition at St. Olaf since 1912, includes Christmas carols, classical selections, a Norwegian carol sung in the original language and "O Day Full of Grace," one of the world-renowned arrangements of F. Mellus Christiansen, founder of the St. Olaf Choir.

"An Olde New England Concert" is a recreation of a "Public Concert of Music" as it might have been done in New Haven, Conn., 200 years ago.

Bicentennial of American Methodism

Article XII

Valena C. Jones
Methodist Church

By KATRINA O. McDONALD
Valena Cecilia MacArthur was born in Bay St. Louis Aug. 3, 1872 and died in New Orleans Jan. 3, 1917. Her father, Eldridge MacArthur, and mother, Henrietta Knight MacArthur, were well known in the community during their lifetimes.

Eldridge MacArthur served as postmaster, tax assessor and postal inspector. He and his wife were among the founders of the Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis.

Miss MacArthur received her university education in New Orleans and graduated from Straight University May 25, 1892 as leader of her class.

She had taught brief periods in rural Hancock County and immediately upon graduation she was elected principal of the Colored Public School of Bay St. Louis, which was later named for her.

In 1894 she began teaching in New Orleans at McDonogh 25, when Prof. Warren Easton was superintendent of New Orleans schools and taught there until her marriage to Bishop Robert E. Jones Jan. 2, 1901.

She had received a city wide prize as the most popular colored public school teacher and later the largest Elementary Colored Public School was named for her. She was a remarkable woman.

Records show that St. Paul Methodist Church was built in 1882 under the leadership and direction of the late Rev. D.H. Flowers, pastor and trustees O. Whaley Sr., Oliver T. Meggs, W. Kelley and John Marshall.

The increasing membership and expanding church program attracted the attention of Bishop Jones and plans were made to purchase more adequate space.

The present building was erected on the site purchased and dedicated to the sacred memory of Mrs. Valena-McCarthy Jones. It was built and dedicated for worship in 1926, under the leadership of the late Bishop Robert E. Jones, Chm. Rev. A.L. Holland, and trustees R.J. Squires, F. Fox, A. Bennett, E. Lee, J.W. Holmes, D. Robinson and W. Daniels.

Over the years the membership has worked faithfully to maintain the church and support its program. In 1982 a program for expansion was initiated and a special Homecoming Celebration was held that drew many former members from a distance. The Rev. Arthur C. Lewis Jr. is serving as pastor at the present time.

Gulfside Methodist Assembly
Early in the 1900's, readers of the 'Southwestern' knew that their editor, Robert E. Jones, was deeply concerned about the cultural deprivation of black people. Because they were denied access to the kind of recreational opportunities available to whites, blacks were forced to develop their own forms of social life and recreation. They were not always wholesome and uplifting.

Dr. Jones had been impressed by a Chataqua, New York program, located on the shores of Lake Erie and at Lakeside, Ohio.

It included religious instruction, lectures on various subjects, notable guest speakers, concerts, organized sports and games, lake excursions and even correspondence courses.

He was determined to create a similar institution for blacks, as soon as he could find and acquire a suitable site.

With the election of Editor Jones to the episcopacy, he assumed responsibility for development of the religious life of 102,376 black members of the Methodist Episcopal Church in the six conferences of the New Orleans area.

Bishop Jones was now free to a certain extent, to initiate his own program for racial development, although this was a qualified freedom, at best, based on his not seeking to alter the basic pattern of segregation.

The only realistic way to meet the pressing needs was to establish separate programs and institutions for blacks which would help provide the recreational and educational opportunities black desperate needed in the deep south.

Bishop Jones saw the beginning of a dream come true, when in 1923, a sprawling 140 acre retreat center along the Gulf of Mexico was founded to meet the needs of black people in the southern regions of the church.

Valued in excess of $1 million, located at Waveland, 35 miles from New Orleans, La., the center has been a center for Christian education, culture and recreation for over six decades. In October 1980 it was dedicated as the 97th Historical Site of the United Methodist Church.

Gulfside's balmy weather, stately pines and large shady oaks for many years lured church groups, college students and civic clubs to its grounds.

One after another buildings were added and provided a chapel, administration building (named for Bishop Jones) hotel to accommodate about 100 over night guests, and could serve a banquet for 300 and an auditorium that would hold 1,000.

Tragedy struck in September 1947 when a tidal wave ravaged the Gulf Coast and the Assembly grounds.

It was painstakingly rebuilt only to be battered in 1965 and 1969 by Hurricanes Betsy and Camille which destroyed 26 buildings.

More than 15 years have passed since Camille, but reconstruction has been slow.

Integration of conferences, and desegregation of church-wide retreat centers, diverted local black churches' attention from Gulfside's pressing needs.

The present executive director is Dr. Warren G. Booker, who is working hard to add programs and extend the usefulness and influence of this center, as it serves the United Methodist Church.

Clermont Handcrafters

Installation of officers to serve for a two-year term (1985-1986) were held last week when The Clermont Handcrafters held their annual Christmas luncheon and party at the Round Table Restaurant.

Those installed were Mrs. William Hero, president; Mrs. Shirley Cox, vice-president; Mrs. Wanda Berthelot, secretary and Mrs. J.C. Goodloe, treasurer. Installing officer, Mrs. Maurice Shea, presented each lady with a specially crafted Christmas corsage.

Each member received as a party favor a small pecan candle holder and a candle, while guests received a handcrafted fireplace lighter.

Guests of the group were Mesdames Christian Neubig, Muriel Jackson, VI Bradford and Dorothy Bessey.

An original poem thanking Ms. Praetorius, outgoing president, for her dedication and tireless efforts for the past two years was read by Mrs. Harry Dupont. Other outgoing officers were each presented a large pecan candle holder and Christmas candle.

Games were played and prizes awarded the winners. Door prize was won by Mrs. Charles Dickson.

Committee chairlady for this yearly event was Mrs. Robert Treadaway and co-chairladies were Mrs. Irene Graff and Mrs. Dupont.

Luncheon chairladies were Mrs. Edward Kennure and Mrs. Charles Schwartz.

8 and 40

The Harrison County Salon No. 218 of the 8 and 40 met December 7 at the Western Sizzlin in Gulfport to celebrate their annual Christmas dinner party and meeting.

Mrs. Mattie North, chapeau (president) called the meeting to order. Dr. Esther Oschmann, L'Aumonier (chaplain) gave a Christmas prayer for peace. The room and tables were decorated with Christmas decorations, wreaths, flowers and lights. Gifts for all present were under the beautifully decorated Christmas tree.

Mrs. Beatrice Ladner, who was in charge of fun and fellowship, furnished games and prizes and then distributed gifts to all the members, their husbands and guests. There were 42 present.

Dr. Esther Oschmann was presented a national award for volunteer hours served at the Gulfport VA Hospital.

Mrs. Jean Eady of Forest, Ms. President of the Department of Mississippi, American Legion Auxiliary and Mrs. Myrt Evans, who is a member of the 8 and 40 of Pascagoula, were out-of-town guests.

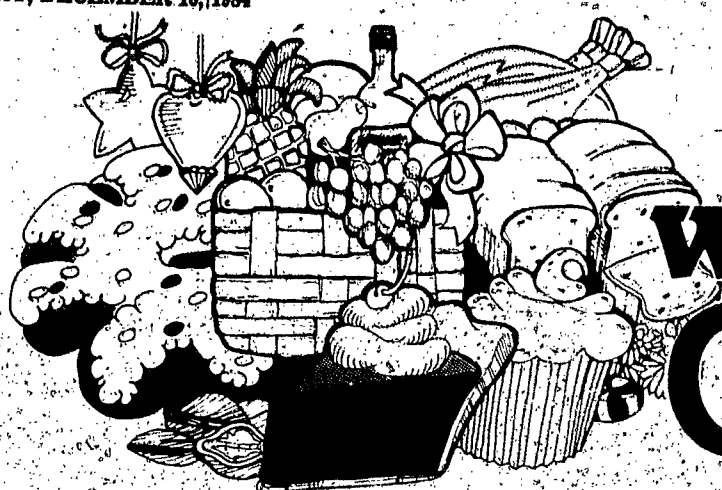

The 8 and 40 is doing a lot for Cystic Fibrosis in children. Cystic Fibrosis, little known but far from being rare, has been taking the lives of innumerable children each year. The most common symptoms consist of chronic coughs, repeated pneumonias, diarrhea, and a tremendous appetite along with a poor weight gain. These symptoms are due to the production of abnormally thick mucus from the mucus glands of the lungs and pancreas, which clogs these organs.

The blockage leads to infection, particularly in the lungs, and finally in the conversion of healthy tissue into scar tissue. Fibrosis, without early diagnosis and treatment, the endless respiratory infections so damage the lungs that there is little hope for the child. Research is the only real hope for children afflicted with this disease. This is why the 8 and 40 offers scholarships to nurses who are interested in the special studies to work in this field.

I'd like to leave this thought for the Christmas season: "If I could do some good today, if I can serve along life's way, if I can something helpful say, Then Lord show me the way. If I can aid one in distress, if I can make a burden less, if I can spread more happiness, Lord show me the way." Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all.

Contributed by Dr. Esther Oschmann.

Ladner—Dailey

Shoreline Park Baptist Church was the setting for the candlelight marriage of Julie Francis Dailey and Craig Anthony Ladner. The Rev. Peter Kendrick officiated at the December evening ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Dailey of Bay St. Louis. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. LeVelle Ladner of Pass Christian.

Decorating the sanctuary were a brass bridal arch with pink and burgundy roses, brass heart-shaped candleholders and lighted aisle candelabra adorned with pink poinsettias.

Nuptial music was presented by Judy Shubert and Jeanine Dailey.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white satin with scalloped lace collar on the high neck, fitted bodice appliqued with lace and embroidered with pearls and iridescents, and sheer long sleeves with satin puffed shoulder emphasis. An overlay of English net appliqued with European lace topped the full satin skirt which featured a crystal pleated flounce and extended to a cathedral train. Her scalloped, tiered bridal veil of illusion was appliqued with lace and was held in place by a beaded camelot headpiece.

She carried a silk cascade of white roses, blossom spray, jubilee gyp, mauve sweetheart roses, stephanotis, lily-of-the-valley and picot ribbon.

Jane Brown of New Orleans, sister of the bride, was matron of honor.

Bridesmaids were Phyllis DeWitt of Ladner Community, sister of the groom; and Judith Peters of Standard Community.

The attendants were identically attired in burgundy taffeta gowns, each with schiffli embroidery in a scalloped effect on the bodice, puffed sleeves, and full skirt with self sash at the waist.

They carried pink and burgundy roses with baby's breath.

Flower girls were Erica Brown of New Orleans and Cassandra Dailey, nieces of the bride.

Randy DeWitt of Ladner Community, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

Groomsmen were Elton Dailey of New Orleans, brother of the bride; Charles Ladner, cousin of the groom; and Anthony DeWitt and Brad DeWitt, nephews of the groom, all of Ladner Community.

Kevin Dailey, brother of the bride, was usher.

The mother of the bride was attired in a mauve chiffon gown with lace bodice topped with long-sleeved lace jacket with pebbled waistline adorned with ribbon lace.

The groom's mother chose a formal gown in pale aqua chiffon and tinseltia, with empire bodice overlaid with chiffon, pearl trim at the neckline and softly gathered skirt.

A reception followed in the Annunciation School Gymnasium. Assisting were Martha Peters of Standard Community and Mary Lee Blanchard of New Orleans.

On return from a wedding trip to New Orleans, the couple will reside in Waveland.

Ladner—Walker

Dana Bernadette Walker and Scott John Ladner were united in marriage Sunday, November 18 in a 4 p.m. double ring ceremony at the Kiln Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall with Judge Bruce Necaise officiating.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Walker of Pass Christian. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. LeVelle Ladner, also of Pass Christian.

A brass bridal arch decorated with ivy and pink and white bells and streamers formed the background for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon over bridal taffeta with Victorian bodice, ring collar, sheer yoke of English net embroidered with schiffli lace and outlined with raschel lace ruffle. The long, full sleeves were gathered at the wrist and tied with satin ribbons. Her full skirt and cathedral train were bordered with rows of baby doll lace ruffles. She wore a wreath headpiece with fingertip veil of illusion.

The bride carried a nosegay of French white roses, dusty rose daisies and baby's breath with rose streamers.

Phyllis DeWitt and Rachelle Walker, both of Pass Christian, sisters of the bride, were matron and maid of honor, respectively.

Rachelle Ladner of Pass Christian, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid.

The attendants were identically attired in dusty rose gowns of chiffon with Victorian necklines and full gathered skirts with ruffled hemlines and bustle at the back.

They carried pink and dusty rose colored roses, daisies and baby's breath, and wore wreaths of miniature complementary flowers.

Nicole Ladner, godchild of the groom, and Anthony DeWitt, nephew of the groom, both of Pass Christian, were flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

Fitzgerald Ladner of Bay St. Louis served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were Randy DeWitt, brother-in-law of the groom and Craig Ladner, brother of the groom, both of Pass Christian.

John Necaise of Pass Christian, uncle of the bride, was usher.

A reception followed the ceremony in the V.F.W. hall. Assisting were Kathy Shaw, godmother of the bride, and Carol Ladner, godmother of the groom.

The couple will reside in Pass Christian.

MRS. SCOTT JOHN LADNER

Carter—Kelly

Mrs. Grace G. Carter of Bay St. Louis announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Donna Jean Carter, to James Raymond Kelly Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly of Waveland. Miss Carter is the daughter of the late J. A. Carter.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Belleville Township High School West, where she was a member of the National Honor Society, Little Theatre and Choral Society. She is head waitress at Bay St. Louis Pizza Hut.

The prospective groom is a graduate of Bay Senior High School, where he was a member of the chorus and band. He attended Pearl River Junior College and is employed with Bienville Steel, Port Bienville.

The couple will exchange vows January 5 in an 11 a.m. ceremony in Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church, with reception following at the American Legion Hall in Waveland.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club held its annual Christmas Silver Tea Dec. 6 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. Lee Stanbro at No. 1 Fox Run, Byrnewood.

The tea tables in the library and diningroom were laden with holiday food trays carefully replenished as needed by hostesses Mesdames N. Lee Stanbro, Michael Eubanks, assisted by Mesdames Donald DeMetz, Robert DeMetz, Kenneth Newton, G. J. Godfrey, Walter Guilbault and John C. Ellis Jr.

Since it was a fund-raising event, the fine attendance was appreciated.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Bay-Waveland Garden Club

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club held its annual Christmas party at the Garden Center.

Mrs. Darlene Underwood, home economist of Hancock County, judged the many beautifully packaged and wrapped Christmas gifts for the residents of the Retardation Center in Long Beach.

Prizes were given in two categories—the most beautiful and most original. Winners were Mrs. N.L. Snyder, first place; Mrs. J.R. Autenreith, second place; and Mrs. W.B. Follansbee, third place.

Most original winners were Mrs. D.J. Burnett, first place; Mrs. Raymond Russell, second place; and Mrs. John Holmes, third place.

Mrs. John Cook read a Christmas devotion that explained the origin of gift-giving at Christmas.

The jade plant was the topic for the horticultural report given by Mrs. James Evans.

The Three Wise Men ceramics were won by Martha Gherke.

The Shell Oil station received the Commercial award and the Garden of the Month award was given to Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cuevas, 603 Highland Drive, Bay St. Louis.

Friendship Oak DAR

Highlights from The Southern Christmas Book by the late Harnett T. Kane were included in an amusing program given by Mrs. E. George Cassis when members of the Friendship Oak Chapter, National Society Daughters of the American Revolution, met in her home at Diamondhead on Wednesday.

Also included in her research were excerpts from Merry Christmas, a history of the holiday, written by Patricia Bunning Stevens.

Prior to the program members of the organization held a silent auction, and later gave a surprise shower honoring a member, Mrs. Larry R. Lisenbee, who expects a candidate for the Children of the American Revolution to be born in early January.

Conducting the ritual, Mrs. Phillip Davenport, regent, called on committee members for several reports and announced the January 1985 meeting would be held in the Civic Room of the Gulf National Bank of Bay St. Louis with Mrs. Juanita Gex, state chairman, as speaker.

Mrs. Gex will discuss a fund raising endeavor for assistance with the restoration of the Statue of Liberty, after members of Friendship Oak Chapter will contribute a free will offering since this project was not included on their budget.

The National Defense message was ready by Mrs. Mark Payne of Long Beach.

Mrs. Jan Anderson of New Jersey was welcomed as a guest.

During the social hour the hostess was assisted by Mrs. W. J. Gemmel and a wide variety of appetizers, canapes, and dainty yuletide cookies were served. A Christmas message from the President General was read by Mr. Nunez C. Pilet who serves as secretary for the group.

Hancock Women's Club

Hancock Women's Club met at the Biloxi Hilton for a Christmas lunch party Thursday. Foremost was the presentation of a check for $250 by Shirley Jones, president, to Rosemary Malandra, a representative of the Bay-Waveland Humane Society.

There was an exchange of grab-bag gifts and a sing-along of Christmas songs. Brierly Ackers, Florence Caracci, Lorraine Dressel, Bees Owens and Georgia Williams won the door prizes.

Hancock Women's Club is donating personal items, clothing and furnishings to Harbor House. Harbor House in Bay St. Louis is the only refuge for homeless and abused girls in Mississippi.

Pendergrafts mark silver anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pendergraft of San Antonio, Tex., celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on November 21, 1984. A reception was given in their honor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lee Crook, close friends of the couple.

Attending from the Bay St. Louis area were Mrs. Pendergraft's mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Toxie Hall of Ansley.

Mrs. Pendergraft, who is the former Gwen Heitzmann of Bay St. Louis, is also the daughter of the late Theodore Heitzmann. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Jules LaFrance of Ansley.

The Pendergrafts, who were married on November 21, 1959 at Keesler Air Force Base Chapel No. 1, are the parents of four children, Brian Pendergraft of College Station, Tex., Gay Pendergraft and Blaine Pendergraft of San Antonio, Tex., and Hope (Mrs. Paul) Moose of Shreveport, La. They have one grandchild, Brannon Paul Moose.

MR. AND MRS. WAYNE PENDERGRAFT

Cuevas—Necaise

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Cuevas Jr. of Bay St. Louis announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Faye Ann Cuevas, to Tyrone Dwayne Necaise, son of Ms. June Cuevas of Dedaux and Mr. Laurent Necaise Jr. of San Clemente, Calif.

Miss Cuevas is the granddaughter of Mrs. Leonie Verges Fricks and the late John (Buddy) Fricks, and Mrs. Alberta Carlton Cuevas and the late Ernest (Gator) Cuevas Sr.

Mr. Necaise is the grandson of Mrs. Grace Deshamp Ladner and Mr. Odie Cuevas, and Mrs. Bertha Lizana Necaise and the late Laurent Necaise Sr.

The bride-elect and the prospective groom are both 1983 graduates of Hancock North Central and are presently attending Pearl River Junior College.

The couple will exchange vows Saturday, December 22 at 2 p.m. at The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints on the corner of McLaurin St. and Nicholson Ave. in Waveland. All relatives and friends are invited to attend.

PAGEANT WINNERS—Cousins Abbie Favre, left, and Charanda Necaise received the following awards in the 'Celebrity Girl' contest in Pascagoula November 10: Abbie won 'Celebrity Girl Princess' age group 2-3; most beautiful; most photogenic; best personality and best fashion. Her grandmother, Bert Necaise, designed and made her dress. She is the daughter of Kim and Charlene Favre and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Favre Sr. of Bay St. Louis. Charanda won 'Celebrity Girl Queen' age group 4-5; and most beautiful. She is the daughter of Charl Necaise of Diamondhead and Randy Necaise of Bay St. Louis and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray McIntyre of Bay St. Louis. Both girls are granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Necaise of Bay St. Louis.

Public Radio to feature Metropolitan Opera special

The Met Marathon, a special four-hour program featuring memorable Metropolitan Opera debuts will air on Monday from 7 to 11 p.m. on Public Radio in Mississippi (PRM) to celebrate the completion of the network.

The program will feature memorable debuts from past Metropolitan Opera radio broadcasts from 1933 through the present as well as interviews with many Met artists.

Among the artists included in the program will be Judith Blegen, Grace Bumbry, Montserrat Caballe, Christa Ludwig, Zinka Milanov, Jessye Norman, Roberta Peters, Leontyne Price, Leonie Rysanek, Renata Scott, Rise Stevens, Placido Domingo, George London, James McCracken, Cornell MacNeil, Sherrill Milnes, James Morris, Luciano Pavarotti, and James Levine.

The new productions of the Met's 45th consecutive season, which is now in progress, will be previewed through interviews with directors including Jean-Pierre Ponnelle and Met singers.

Listeners to the Marathon are encouraged to call a toll-free number to receive a special Broadcast Guide. The Guide, a gift from the Met, includes information on all of the broadcasts and telecasts from the Metropolitan Opera this season, the stories of the operas, a station listing, as well as other information. The number is 1-800-MET-1984 or you can write for their free broadcast guide to: "The Met," Box 50, New York, N.Y. 10023. PRM frequency on the Gulf Coast is 90.3 FM.

Bay Legion sponsoring oratorical preliminaries

Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139, Bay St. Louis is sponsoring local preliminaries to the 48th annual National American Legion High School Oratorical Contest.

The local competition will be at the Post Home on Green Meadow Road, Wednesday, Dec. 19 at 7 p.m.

Five judges will hear some 10 area student entrants. "Students win more than awards and scholarships when they participate in the American Legion High School Oratorical Contest," said Bill Moran, chairman of the local program.

"Some of the fringe benefits," according to Moran, "are increased self-confidence and poise, experience in communicating with others and valuable training in self expression."

"In the 48 years the American Legion has sponsored the high school oratorical contest, more than four million high school students have participated," he added.

Participants write then deliver an eight to ten minute expression of their views on some phase of "The Constitution of the United States," which gives emphasis to the attendant duties and obligations of a citizen to our government," Moran continued.

National winners receive a total of $40,000 in scholarship awards.

"One of the greatest benefits to young people who take part in the
